Bob Schaller is an award-winning sports writer and the author of thirty-five books, including The State of the Game with Hall of Fame basketball coach Denny Crum and UCLA legend John Wooden, and What Though the Odds with Notre Dame alum Haley Scott DeMaria. He is currently a contributing writer for several magazines and online news sites, including Skating, Splash, USA Gymnastics, and USA Hockey. He has a master's degree and is working toward a PhD in communications. He lives in Lubbock, Texas. Dave Harnish is the head basketball coach at Western Nebraska College. His teams have won the Region IX Tournament twelve times to advance to the national tournament, and have won at least thirty games ten times. They have not lost more than nine games in a season since 1993. He lives in Scottsbluff, NE.

Meant more for 6-8 year olds not the 11 year old I bought it for.

This is a good basketball book. It's a little advanced for my 7 1/2 year old, since he doesn't know a lot about the players and teams they talk about in the book, but he will definitely love it as he learns more. He likes the sections on playing the game, and is not difficult to read.

Good facts..wish there were pictures in it tho..to give my son better visuals of the players and plays

Bought this for a 6 yr old n he loves it.

I bought this for my 7year old grandson and he loved it. In fact after he went to bed he got back up and got the book to read and his mom found him later that night sound asleep with the book still in his hand. He told me that he learned some new moves from the book.

For the very young.

Great book that explains the rules and technical side of the sport for a child who wants to understand basketball and improve his skills. This book has now become bedtime reading for my grandson.

I purchased this book for my 12 yr. old son. After browsing through the pages, I have to say, this is a great book. It has sections that test your knowledge of what you read. My son has a vague knowledge of basketball, but I'm sure this will enlighten his interest.
