Customer Reviews

I love the piano sheet music for the song of "Father, Spirit, Jesus"

I'm 17 years old and play the keyboard/piano in our church band and really enjoy playing contemporary christian music. I was actually able to go see Casting Crowns "Lifesong" tour this year with my youth group. During the concert, they gave every bit of praise and glory to God and none to themselves. Casting Crowns is truly blessed by God, and they are not ashamed to proclaim His Word. That night when they sang "Praise You in This Storm" I and hundreds of other people felt God right there in Freedom Hall. It is so comforting to know that through all of lifes troubles that "we can lift our eyes unto the hills" and theres God just waiting to pick us up and give us strength. Not everyone realizes that God is in control of everything and allows good things and bad things to happen (Matt. 5:45). When tragedies come, God could be giving us a chance to grow stronger. The songbook is great, and I'm learning Praise You in this Storm right now. I really want it to bless other people and give them strength. Whether you have a band or you just play solo, this book will be perfect.

The book, as well as the CD are truly amazing! I've had 2 opportunities to see Casting Crowns in Concert, and they truly are amazing. I read the one review about how it angered him that Christians believe that God is the one who gives and takes away. And then kept going about how God doesn't take away. All I can say is read the Bible. It says it right there, God took away Sodom and Gomorrah, God took away Elijah (or Elisha, get them confused). God wiped out the Earth in the flood. To say that God doesn't take away is purely ignorant of what the Bible tells us! God takes things away for a reason, whether it be something or someone is so evil and wicked, as with Sodom and Gomorah and the flood, or someone like Elijah (or Elisha) who is a God-fearing person. If your not one for Christian music great- but I promise you casting crowns music is unlike anything you've ever heard before!
