Professor Andersen is the Vice President of the American Sociological Association (ASA) and recipient of the ASA's prestigious Jessie Bernard Award "given annually to someone whose work expands the horizons of sociology to include the study of women. She also received the 2004 Sociologists for Women in Society Feminist Lecturer Award and the 2008 Eastern Sociological Society Robin F. Williams Lecturer Award. She has received two teaching awards at the University of Delaware: the University Excellence in teaching Award and the College of Arts and Sciences Outstanding Teacher Award. She currently chairs the National Advisory Board for the Stanford University Center for Comparative Studies in Race and Ethnicity and is the former editor of Gender & Society.

Interesting arguments here. Key terms and phrases are highlighted at the end of each chapter. It also highlights key women and their contributions in many capacities throughout history from all backgrounds. You'll have great conversations and your own personal "Aha" moments while studying from this text.

Great text about gender (female in particular) and society!

Easy to read, and very interesting.

Had to get book for a college class!

Great product and in good condition

I like it, Thanks.

I needed this book for a class and it was greatly priced, better than other places I checked!

Perfect
