Customer Reviews

"The goal of the book is to connect elementary school children with science experiments, activities, and projects. The majority of the book is devoted to a subject index to over 300 science books for children, most published between 1994 and 2004. Locating an experiment is a fairly easy undertaking. The author has created 1,4400 subject headings to assist the user. Every experiment is indexed under multiple headings." - SB&F

Mary Anne Pilger is the author of previous editions of this book and several editions of Multicultural Projects Index for Young People, all from Libraries Unlimited. She lives in New York.
